

Maggie Bradway

Indiana-born and raised, I'm a 22 year old walk-in artist with about 3 years of learning under my belt who specializes in rock-solid linework. I believe a tattoo should be built to last, focusing on clean execution and sharp, durable designs.

When I'm not at the shop, I'm usually out on my motorcycle. If you're looking for a precise, high-contrast piece without the long wait, I'm available for walk-ins and love the energy of a spontaneous session. If you want a tattoo that's as durable as it is detailed, come by the shop and let's get to work.
